

15-5-1 Of Mice and Men Planning Example

Quotes: "Guns live us, that woman circles, me the loneliest guy in the world"

"You keep away from Corley, Lennie."

"He laughed kindly on his heels, as though he carried the invisible grain bag"

"No, I couldn't do that. I had 'in too long."

"The little man jerked Jim. He brought his hat"

"rim of his eyes were red with sea of love"

"George said weakly

Plan of Of Mice and Men Characters

1. Loneliness is only ~~felt~~^{real} after Lennie's death
2. Loneliness holds George and Lennie together
3. Lenny finds comfort in the loneliness of George
4. Lenny finds comfort in the loneliness of Curly's wife.
5. Lennie finds comfort in the loneliness of Crooks
6. Candy's loneliness represents familiarity (snake dog)
7. The loneliness of the itinerant is inevitable
8. Isolation unites the itinerant worker
9. Those in minority races are lonely
10. No-one can live with their loneliness comfortably
11. Loneliness is emphasized by the lucky relationships
12. George + Lennie's relationship isolates them from the solitary loneliness of the typical ranch hand
13. Curly's wife's loneliness was the death of her
14. Curly's wife is isolated by sexism in her gender
15. The characters lack of power to realize their dreams isolates them from hope

1. Candy's loneliness represents familiarity *
2. Curly's wife's loneliness killed her
3. The loneliness of the itinerant worker is inevitable
4. George only recognizes his loneliness after Lennie's death
5. The lack of power to realize their aspiration isolates Curly's wife, George and Candy from hope

Candy's loneliness represents familiarity.

Order

1. George only recognizes his loneliness after Lennie's death

2. Candy's loneliness represents familiarity

3. The loneliness of the itinerant ^{worker} is inevitable

4. The lack of power to enable their aspirations isolates
Curler's wife, George and Candy

5. Curler's wife's loneliness killed her

Topic Sentences

1. George's failure to perceive but recognize his own loneliness is only realized after the death of Lennie and his who looks with him George's belief in a better life.

It is only after the familiarity that Lennie offered George is compromised - in Lennie's death - that George is able to recognize his own isolation.

2. For many of the characters, loneliness represents some twisted familiarity that they can relate to.

Both in the length and depth of the loneliness of the itinerant worker is it suggested that isolation is inevitable to the life of a ranch hand.

3. Steinbeck writes about many of characters in OF MICE AND MEN as unsatisfied and restless for better things, it is perhaps in their constant dissatisfaction that loneliness is unavoidable as a farm labourer.

The inherent isolation is used by Steinbeck to portray the linear life of the farm hand of which feelings of isolation is inevitable.

4. ~~They~~ Lacking in power to enable their dreams, George and Curley's wife share a dangerous connection with their lives, ~~that arose out of their love~~

In their total lack of power, both George and Curley's wife subject themselves to false hopes and shoddy aspirations.

5. loneliness is suggested to lead ^{to} Curley's wife to her gruesome death as she hunts for companionship with Lonnie.

With depth and breadth, loneliness figures to the inherent sentiment of these ~~from~~ ~~to~~ ~~with~~ disjection with their lives that leads all to despair and sure to their death.

Quotes:

"Guys like us, that work on ranches, are the loneliest guys in the world"

"You keep away from Curley, Lonnie."

"He laughed heartily on his heels, as though he carried the invisible grain bag"

"No, I couldn't do that. That 'in too long."

"The little man jerked down the brim of his hat"

"His eyes were red with sun glare"

"George said wainly

"The discontent & anger or irritation were all gone from his face"

"Could have been in the room"

"He says he gonna..."

- Curley's wife's words have been prison
of men

6th February

What is the focus of my essay?

Consider how Steinbeck presents loneliness in 'Of Mice and Men' through two characters of your choice.

- Donor use the word 'quote'

- Date presentation in PEE

- Context - explains itself

- Analysis - flows with quote marks
clear

Plan of Of Mice and Men

1. Loneliness is only ~~felt~~ ^{real} after Lennie's death
2. Loneliness holds George and Lennie together
3. Lenny finds comfort in the loneliness of George
4. Lenny finds comfort in the loneliness of Curly's wife.
5. Lennie finds comfort in the loneliness of Crooks
6. Candy's loneliness represents familiarity (in his dog)
7. The loneliness of the itinerant worker is inevitable
8. Isolation unites the itinerant worker
9. Those in minority races are lonely
10. No-one can live with their loneliness comfortably
11. Loneliness is emphasized by the lucky relationships
12. George & Lennie's relationship isolates them from the solitary loneliness of the typical ranch hand
13. Curly's wife's loneliness was the death of her
14. Curley's wife is isolated by suspicion in her yard.
15. The characters' lack of power to realize their dreams isolates them from hope

1. Candy's loneliness represents familiarity *
2. Curley's wife's loneliness killed her
3. The loneliness of the itinerant worker is inevitable
4. George only recognizes his loneliness after Lennie's death

dreams isolates them from hope

1. Candy's loneliness represents familiarity *
2. Curley's wife's loneliness killed her
3. The loneliness of the itinerant worker is inevitable
4. George only recognises his loneliness after Lennie's death
5. The lack of power to enable their aspiration isolates Curley's wife, George and Candy from hoping Condy's loneliness represents familiarity.

order

1. George only recognizes his loneliness after Louise's death

2. Condy's loneliness represents familiarity

3. The loneliness of the itinerant ^{worker} is inevitable

4. The lack of power to enable their aspirations isolates
Curley's wife, George and Condy

5. Curley's wife's loneliness killed her

Topic: Curley's wife

Topic Sentences

1. George's failure to perceive and recognize his own loneliness is only realized after the death of Lennie ~~and his~~ who looks with him. George's beliefs in a better life.

It is only after the familiarity that Lennie offered George is compromised - in Lennie's death - that George is able to recognize his own isolation.